Whig State Convention.

At a Convention of the Whig Members of the Legislature, holden on the 10th of June, 1846.

☞ There is justly felt throughout the country much joy at the settlement of the Oregon question The Loco press endeavors to approve the course of Mr Polk in giving a practical denial of his inaugural statement that our title to Oregon is clear and unquestionable, thereby admitting that he then lied for Buncum, who let at the same time they approve of the vote of the Senator of Maine, Mr Fairfield, for sticking to that he by his final vote against the treaty It is in this way that the Loco press proves its entire lack of principle and of consistency No wonder that divisions, and heart-burnings, and rebellions, are in the Loco party, The leaders have not yet learned the merit of being honest

☞ The Concert this evening will be worthy the attention of all lovers of music Mr Keyzer stands in the first order of his profession, and he will be assisted by Mr Edwards, who is the great favorite of the people of Portland, and they, as well as any people under the sun can appreciate true musical skill He will further be assisted by two favorites in our own city—Miss Kingman and Mr Addition If this array of talent does not give satisfaction, then we greatly mistake in our calculations

Many of the Loco papers feel compelled to admit that C J Ingersoll, by failing to substantiate his charges against Mr Webster, has proved himself to be a vile calumniator

☞ The weather here now is indeed glorious, and vegetation is pushing ahead with unparalleled speed

☞ The first public procession of the Sons of Temperance in this city appeared yesterday on the occasion of the burial of Brother Sewall Stearns

The Fashion in our Churches.

An intercepted letter from a brother newly arrived in the city to a brother in the country wherein are detailed some things not altogether strange to our readers

BANGOR, June 1846

Dear Brother—According to the promise I made you when I left home, I now write you I arrived here on Saturday evening consequently have not seen much of the city in its week day dress—Have seen a portion of it though in its Sunday dress, and a fine city it is in that dress I can assure you I have attended three different meetings to-day, of three different sects The Episcopalian, the Unitarian, and the Orthodox Congregational Of the different sentiments of these sects I shall not speak You and I have been taught what they are so far as is profitable and I cannot be too thankful that we have also been taught that religion consists not in dogmas—not in the belief of points about which sectarians quarrel as if the safety of the Universe depended upon the result but in the love of God and of our neighbor But I will not dwell here upon this matter We have cause to bless the memory of our dear parents who taught us practical religion May we never be without its holy influence upon our lives

I have much to write you, but what is uppermost in my mind now is the new fangled notions that have crept into these meetings We have been accustomed to sit during singing and sermon, and to stand during prayer This practice has been annihilated here in some churches, half annihilated in others, and become so confused in others that a stranger just from the country can hardly tell which end he stands on

To give you an idea of it I will narrate my experience of to day, and I think that before you get through you will feel some sympathy for your lone brother

I went in the morning to the Episcopal church—The minister began to read Supposing that he was reading the Bible I kept my sitting, but those around me began to rise and I looked about to see what the matter was Seeing they were all up, I thought it might be the custom to stand while the Bible was read and I rose also No sooner had I arisen, however, than the minister said "Let us pray," and the congregation all sat down Not wanting to be stared at as a lusus naturæ I sat down too, and there I was up and down in a twinkling! I felt queerly enough My face was in a blaze—for I thought every body must be staring at me A person appeared to take compassion on me and handed me a book I was thankful, and followed the minister for a space of time, but suddenly I lost him, and the congregation were on their feet again I got up hastily this time, and concluded I would let the book go and watch and follow the rising and falling of the multitude I succeeded at last tolerably well, and congratulated I got off with but a slight exhibition of my greenness After the minister had read the hymn, however, I got into another scrape The congregation arose, and knowing it was once a custom here, for the people to face the singers, when I arose I turned square round and looked towards the singing seats Presently I dropped my eyes, when to! I found that I was the only one looking to that direction, and worse than that there was a black-eyed, roguish-looking, but beautiful girl, staring at me with a half-laughing expression, which made me feel cheap enough. I had the presence of mind to maintain my position Glad I was, for I saw I thought I saw, that it advanced me a step in the favor of those black eyes I paid very good attention to the music, but a little better I fear to the black eyes,

I fancy I got through the service without discredit, but I certainly felt awkward enough

Now for the afternoon I went to the Unitarian meeting Here I knew they were not buried up in forms, so I thought it would be impossible for me to lose my reckoning The minister read the hymn, and the scriptures and the congregation sat as we do at home, and I felt quite at home When the minister came to the long prayer not doubting that I was in order, I arose, but what was my astonishment to find that I was the only one who did so! I looked about me, and there I was solitary and alone, a very oasis in the desert The blood rushed to my face Another pair of black eyes darted their splendor into mine What should I do? To stand or not to stand, that was the question—It would have been singular enough to stand thus throughout the long prayer, let alone the fatigue—It was unquestionably the best course to take my time and sit down again, which I did with as much nonchalance as possible But there were the black eyes still What a fortunate fellow I was Two pairs of black eyes in one day What a discovery for a poor country lad, and all in consequence of ignorance of the city fashions! Well I sat during the long prayer and asked myself the meaning of this practice They must stand up at some time during the services? It cannot be that they stand up in sermon time! It must be too, for they seem to make no change of position at any other time,—But it will be odd if they stand up during sermon However, the sermon came and went, and I sat and eat, and screwed, and stretched—not bolt upright put my knees against the front of the pew turned half round and finally, in very desperation determined to attempt a spiritual conversation with the black eyes They appeared to understand and I managed to work my way through the remaining services with less difficulty than I had had in the beginning I could not help putting to myself what our hard working uncle John who can never sit a sermon through—would have done He would have stood out or snored it out, I dont know which Either way he would have been looked upon as an independent country farmer, I reckon

In the evening there was a changed meeting at the Hammond street church, as it is called And here I found the fashion as democratic as I could desire I did not know what the practice there could be, but I determined to steer clear of any difficulty if possible by watching my next neighbors When the singing commenced the congregation arose—Not thinking from my experience in the morning that they would face the singer I barely arose, keeping my eyes upon the floor When I raised them I found myself peering into a pair of sharp grey eyes I mean the features of the female possessor was sharp as they were I must in hesitation in turning around as soon as possible When the singing closed the congregation were seated and I began to feel a little at home After the reading of the chapter came the long prayer, and with it came a fix that I had not before got into Some arose and others continued to sit. My right hand neighbor arose, but my left hand sat I was awkwardly situated and wanted to get easy I felt that I ought to be up, and if I go up I felt that I should want to be down again I would gladly have put one side up and kept the other down I grew fidgetty At length, I got up I stood for some time but it would not do so I sat down again and sat it out I felt very much at home here after a while I think I might have got astride the partition of a pew and it would have been considered all right I concluded that here a man might worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience sure enough But with your and my notions of order this practice would be hardly to our minds

I have frequently thought that there might be a change in our congregation, at home for the better; I think it would be well to stand and face the singers during their performance once, at least during services—to sit—assuming a devotional attitude—during the long prayer and to stand during the opening and closing prayers Kneeling during prayer is unfashionably the proper posture But in these days of narrow pews and long legs this is impossible To stand during the long prayer tires ones legs and consequently his devotional feelings Let all sit then and assume such an attitude in which to send up their aspirations as shall seem to them most appropriate

Good night my dear brother, my subject may not have interested you but I assure you it has me—and possibly you may feel a little curious about the two pairs of black eyes

Affectionately FREDERICK J——

To the Hon Members of the Senate and of the House of Representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled:

The memorial respectfully presents for your consideration (in connection with the existing policy of a Protective Tariff to the National Industry) the following brief facts in our history

1st The immediate rebellion under Shays, and others, (about 1787, in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, was a consequence of Free Trade to foreigners and the want of Protection to Home Industry, causing a paralysis of Industry, and a great scarcity of Money

2nd That the universal distress from this cause then prevailing, and to protect our National Enterprise, and Industry by the power of a General National Government were among the leading objects for which and most powerful arguments by which, the present Federal Government was established, under which we have prospered and become a mighty Nation

3d On the organization of the Federal Government under Washington, the first act of the first Congress was passed expressly to protect our Home Enterprise and Industry against Foreign Rivalry in our own market It may be safely assumed from these facts, that the Principle of Protection lies at the bottom of the Federal Constitution, and our experience has abundantly demonstrated that the entire country has prospered, or suffered, as that principle in our National Policy has been adhered to or departed from —It follows, that in consequence of abandoning that principle in our National policy, must necessarily be followed by the ultimate annihilation of our General Government, which must cease to be a blessing, when it ceases to perform its bounden duty to our citizens in all lawful enterprises and labors, by the united strength of the National Government should be the first article in the political creed of our Statesmen of all parties, never to be departed from In our paternal Government it is the Polar Star by which our political barks must be guided, or it will assuredly be wrecked

4th The history of the country (within the recollection of every man) for the past ten years from 1836 to 1845, presents a demonstration of these truths which cannot require any comment The experiment in Free Trade to foreigners, under the Compromise law of 1832 (in work ing) produced a vast influx of Foreign manufactures in 1836, which was followed by great distress and universal Bankruptcy of our Traders, Mechanics Manufacturers and Farmers in 37, 38, 39, 40 and 41—a distress and distraction so universal that it reached the hearth of every man in the Nation, and therefore cannot be forgotten—saved a common ruin threatened the country from Maine to Mexico, and led thinking men to apprehend the worst political consequences to arise from a civil outbreak of anarchy—only to be quelled by the sword In 1842, a hope of a reformation of the Project of policy was happily realized, and with it a restoration of confidence was followed by the universal prosperity since realized (as if by magic influence) from the operation of the Protective Tariff of that year, under which prosperity continues, and will continue, with increasing benefits—if a wise stability in this vital policy can be permanently established by the concurrence of all political parties The majority in the present Congress may have the envable distinction of effecting this by a hearty support to the existing laws, and in setting their faces against Free Trade projects

In reply to those who impute the distress of the Country to a derangement in the Currency by the destruction of the United States Bank, however much may have increased distress, we show the restoration of prosperity from the date of the Protective Tariff of 1842, and without the aid of a National Bank

Already our country enjoys a perfectly Free Trade throughout its wide extent from lat 30 to 49 and from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans, untettered by any local imposts, excise, taxes, tithes, privileges or monopolies, all is as free as the air we breathe subject only to our national regulations This is a Free Trade which is our birth right, but the Free Trade sought by foreigners and foreign governments, in our wide spread country, is a very different thing a operation on the public weal, as shown by our own sad experience in 1784-8, and again in 1816-24, and between 1836 and 1842, and was wisely so considered by those who formed the National Government

These facts here shown, from our own history and experience, are not to be denied—Sophistry must hide its head before them, and common sense and universal experience appeal to your honorable body, asking a firm and united adherence to a wise Protective policy for these United States, alike due to our own citizens and to foreign immigrants seeking a residence and support by their labor, in our free and happy country This is the prayer of MILLIONS

Correspondence about a Bell.

The following correspondence so honorable to both parties, also affords an interesting reminiscence of a distinguished and worthy individual of Massachusetts

From the Lime Rock Gazette

Appleton, Oct 24th, 1845

SAM'L APPLETON Esq

Sir,—We the undersigned, inhabitants of the town of Appleton, would respectfully represent That we have lately erected a small Meeting House at the village of McLain's Mills, in said town, and that we feel anxious to obtain a bell suitable for the same that our numbers are small and the expense already incurred falls heavily upon us and knowing the high reputation you every where sustain for liberality, have been induced to ask you to present us with a bell The only reason we have to offer for asking the boon at your hands, rather than any other person are,

First—Because the town of Appleton was named in honor of your venerable father, and to commemorate the name of his family, and

Secondly—That if we have not been wrongly informed, you can make the gift without the least possible injury or inconvenience to your self or family

We do not pretend to have any claim upon your generosity and should you decline complying with our wishes, we shall have no land to find Will you please give an answer, and direct to the first signer of this letter

BENJ MCLAIN, (and his associates)

Sir—I have received a letter, dated October 24th, signed by yourself and seven others, inhabitants of the town of Appleton, requesting me to make a present of a bell, as table for a Meeting House lately erected at the village of McLain's Mills in said town You say the reasons of your asking the boon from me, rather than any other person, are—First, that the town of Appleton was named in honor of my venerable father, and to commemorate the name of his family —I think there must be some mistake in this My father, Isaac Appleton, lived and died on a small farm at New Ipswich, N H I do not think he was ever in the State of Maine, or ever heard of the town of Appleton.

I myself formerly had some knowledge of your neighborhood About sixty years ago I was among the first settlers of the town of Hope (then called Barrettstown) I took for myself a lot of land more than two miles from any other settlement and for some time carried my provisions on my back, going through the woods by marked trees, to my log house and home, at that time My lot of land was near where Mr Reuben Safford has his a house on his land If Mr Safford, or any other persons are now living who resided in Hope from forty five to sixty years ago, they can tell you something of Sam'l Appleton of that day

As I should be very sorry to give a bell that might sound my praises under false pretences or impressions, I therefore most respectfully decline complying with your wishes

(Signed,) SAM'L APPLETON

Appleton, Nov 10th, 1845

SAM'L APPLETON

Sir—Your letter of Nov 3d has been received, and we thank you for the information you have given us—The most aged persons now living in this town, have always stated that the town of Appleton was named in the honor of your father, who, they believed, resided in Boston at the time, and was an owner of eastern lands, and we have always supposed (till now) that this was the fact, how this impression became so general I am not able to say

The farm upon which you commenced in your young days, lies about three miles from the new Meeting House, and is now under improvement Your old neighbor, Mr Safford, is still living, although his head seems to be whitened by the frosts of many winters

As we have been mistaken in regard for whom the town was named, we now withdraw the request that you would give us a bell, and hope you will not believe that we intended to obtain one from you under "false pretences," for if we had succeeded in getting it by such means, it would have sounded only our own dishonor

(Signed) BENJ MCLAIN

Boston, Dec 1st, 1845

BENJ MCLAIN, Esq

Sir—I have received your letter of Nov 10th in which you withdraw the request made in a former letter, that I would give a Meeting house bell to the town of Appleton You will please to recollect that your reasons for asking me for a bell, were—First, that the town of Appleton was named in honor of my father, in answer to that letter I informed you that your first reason for asking me for a bell, was not correct, as the town of Appleton was not named in honor of my father I therefore declined giving a bell on that score

Your second reason for asking me for a bell, was, "that if you were not wrongly informed, I could make the gift without the least possible injury of inconvenience to myself To this, your second reason, I now reply, that through the kindness of Providence, in my pecuniary affairs, you were not wrongly informed on that subject, and if you will procure a suitable bell for your new Meeting house, and send me the bill, I will with the greatest pleasure pay the amount

I am happy to hear that a Meeting house is erected, and that the gospel is preached within three miles of the place where I spent three long summer seasons, during which time I never heard the sound of a church going bell, or ever heard a sermon, or a voice of prayer, there being, at that time, no place of public worship within twenty miles of my humble dwelling.

(Signed,) SAM'L APPLETON

Mexican Women.

[From Hon Waddy Thompson's, Recollections of Mexico]

They have no fire places in Mexico, and I think that this circumstance has a very great influence on their character It is not easy to estimate the moral influence of these family reunions, to which we are accustomed around the fireside on long winter evenings, which are passed in reading some excellent book, or in conversation not less instructive

In walking the streets of Mexico, it would be very safe to bet that eight out of every ten persons you meet would be officers, soldiers, priests, friars, lepers, and it would be difficult to decide which class is the most numerous All but the last of these classes are not only unproductive, but a charge upon the country It does not seem to me that the whole productive industry of the country, as far as the Mexicans are concerned, and excluding the profits of the labor and capital of foreigners, would be sufficient to support these drones

I wish that I could in sincerity say that the ladies of Mexico are handsome They are not, nor yet are they ugly Their manners, however, are perfect and in the great attributes of the heart, affection, kindness and benevolence in all their forms, they have no superiors They are eminently graceful in every thing but dancing That does not come by nature as we have the author ty of Dugherty that reading and writing do and they are rarely taught to dance, and still more rarely practice it

I think that in another, and the most important point in the character of woman, they are very much blandered I am quite sure that there is no city in Europe of the same size where there is less immorality Indeed I cannot see how such a thing is possible Every house in Mexico has but one outside door and a porter always at that The old system of the duenna, and a constant espionage, are observed by every one, and to an extent that would scarcely be believed I have no doubt, however, that whatever other effects these restraints may have, their moral influence is not a good one The virtue which they secure is of the sickly nature of hot house plants, which wither and perish when exposed to the weather Women, instead of being taught to regard certain acts as impossible to be committed, and therefore not apprehended or guarded against, are brought up with an ideal that the temptation of opportunity is one which they never resisted

I do not think that the ladies of Mexico are generally well educated There are, however, some shining exceptions Mrs Almonte, the wife of Gen Almonte would be regarded as an accomplished lady in any country The Mexicans of either sex are not a reading people—The ladies read very little

The general routine of female life is to rise late, and spend the larger portion of the day standing in their open windows, which extend to the floor It would be a talk but not any hour of the day between ten and five o clock, that you would in walking the streets see one or more females standing thus at the windows of more than half the houses At five they ride on the Paseo and then go to the theatre where they remain until twelve o clock, and the next day, and every day in the year repeat the same routine In this dolce far niente these which lives pass away But I repeat that in many of the qualities of the heart which make women lovely and loved, they have no superiors

The war of independence was illustrated with many instances of female virtue of a romantic character one of which I will mention And I again regret that I have forgotten the name of the noble woman whose virtue and love of country were so severely tested The lady to whom I refer had two sons, each of whom was in command of a detachment of the patriot army One of them was made prisoner, and the Spanish General into whose hands he had fallen, sent for his mother and said to her, "If you will induce your other son to surrender his army to me, I will spare the life of the one who is my prisoner" Her instant reply was "No! I will not purchase the life of one son by the dishonor of another and the ruin of my country This fact is historic, and is more true than history generally is

The ladies of Mexico dress with great extravagance, and I suppose a greater profusion of pearls and gold —I will not say more baboaic than any other country I remember that at a ball at the President's, Mr Bocanegra asked me what I thought of the Mexican ladies, were they as handsome as my own country women? I of course avoided answering the question, I told him, however that they were very graceful, and dressed much finer than our ladies He said he supposed so, and then asked me what I thought the material of the dresses of the two ladies which he pointed out had cost, and then told me that he had happened to hear his wife and daughters speaking of them, and that the material of the dresses, blonde, I think, had cost one thousand dollars each I asked on the occasion, a friend of mine who was a rich man what he supposed was the cost of an ornament for the head thickly set with diamonds of the Sonora—G— He told me that he knew very well, for he had inquired for her, and that the price was twenty five thousand dollars are more other diamonds and pearls no doubt of equal value

I have said that there are very rarely if ever anything like evening parties, or tertulias social meetings, or call a upon an evening are quite as unusual except among very near relations, and even then the restraint and espionage are not at all relaxed Persons who have seen each other, and been attached for years often meet at the altar without having spent half an hour in each other's company Ladies of the better classes never walk the streets except on one day in the year the day before Good Friday, I think it is But they make the most of this their Saturnalia on that day all the fashionable streets are crowded with them, in their best robes and tuckers, and glittering in diamonds The streets are always, however, swarming with women of the middling and lower classes The only article of dress worn by these are a chemise and a petticoat, satin slippers! but no stockings, and a rebozo, a long shawl improperly called by our ladies a mantilla Thus they wear over the head and wrapped close around their chin, and thrown gracefully over their left shoulder Whatever they may be in private, no people can be more observant of propriety in public, one may walk the streets of Mexico for a year, and he will not see a wanton gesture or look on the part of a female of any description, with the single exception, that if you meet a woman with a fine bonet, which they are very apt to have, she finds some occasion to adjust her rebozo, and throws it open for a second Thus rebozo answers all the purposes of shawl, bonnet, and frock body

The women of Mexico, I think, generally smoke, it is getting to be regarded as not exactly comme il faut, and therefore they do it privately As the men generally smoke, they have the advantage which Dean Swift recommends to all who eat or sons, to make their sweethearts do so too

The Hessian fly has done great damage to the wheat crop in Illinois

CONSUMPTION CURED!

BROWN'S INDIAN BALSAM OF LIFE.

PULMONIC SYRUP

For Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and other Diseases of the CHEST and LUNGS.

BROWN'S HUNGARIAN BALSAM, the Great English Remedy for Pulmonary and Pulmonic Diseases, still stands unrivalled and unsurpassed as the most elegant, agreeable and effectual curative of these formidable complaints, now known to the civilized world.

Fifteen years of trial in the United States during which time it has spread its fame throughout the Union, has entitled it to establish its pre-eminent merit in all parts of the country, as the ONLY RELIABLE REMEDY in the worst cases of Pulmonary disease, which the least and most agreeable of all the bright forms of death, cough and inflammation, that can possibly be used.

SPITTING OF BLOOD This frightful symptom of approaching Consumption is speedily checked and prevented by the use of Brown's Hungarian Balsam which heals the affected membrane, restores the incipient tubercles and restores those vital organs, the lungs to a sound and healthy condition.

REMEMBER THIS Spitting of Blood should never be neglected, as the most of persons who have died of Consumption have died from neglecting to stop the first spitting of blood, or raising blood again, unless a proper cure is immediately employed.

PAIN IN THE SIDE This distressing symptom of Consumption arises from inflammation of the Lungs or the Membrane called the Pleura, or from a Scrofulous affection of the air passages, which latter case it is a very dangerous indication of disease. It prevents full and free breathing, and wears away the natural strength of the system. The cause of this symptom should be removed at once, and nothing can possibly effect that object so speedily and happily as the Great English Remedy, discovered by Dr Buchan, which is entirely vegetable in its ingredients and perfectly harmless in all its qualities.

LIVER COMPLAINT In cases of Consumption the Liver is always more or less affected, and also the Spleen, Pleura, and small glands. On dissecting Consumptive patients, Tubercles are often found in all these organs, particularly upon the Liver, which also becomes fatty, oily and swelled. The effect of the Hungarian Balsam in diseases of the Liver, especially if it be of an ulcerous nature, is direct and powerful. Simple disease of the Liver, unattended by Consumption is speedily cured by its use.

WINTER COUGH The harsh dry hacking winter cough which afflicts old people, and invalids in a low state of health is speedily affected by the Hungarian Balsam.

It warms, moistens, and stimulates the whole breathing apparatus, removes all morbid mucus and other foul matter, purifies and animates the blood, improves the secretive power of the Liver, Spleen, and other large glands, and the digestive organs, and imparts new life to the wan and emaciated system.

BRONCHITIS Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Harsh Cough, a shiny expectoration, with all other symptoms caused by an affection of the air tubes leading from the throat to the lungs, are directly and specifically cured by the use of the admirable remedy invented by Dr Buchan.

This is a very painful, wearing and injurious complaint, and always has a powerful tendency to inflame and so ten the Lungs, and thereby to induce the worst form of Pulmonary disease. Be warned in time, be afflicted and employ this valuable remedy.

TUBERCLES ON THE LUNGS The Hungarian Balsam is the only popular remedy which has any power to dissolve, remove, and cure Tubercles on the Lungs. Incredible as this is generally esteemed, we have the most abundant and conclusive evidence to sustain the assertion that such is its direct and immediate effect in all cases where there is no natural organic defect. In fact, so confident is the American Agent of its power to cure the worst form of this disease that he prefers (as he has frequently stated) that it should be used by invalids who have been PRONOUNCED INCURABLE by the most eminent physicians rather, than by persons affected with some slighter form of disease—in order that its triumphs might be more apparent. He boldly declares that it will cure Tuberculous disease, and confidently solicits a trial in the worst cases.

EXPECTORATION Expectoration is the main portal subject to be attained in all attempts to cure diseases of the Chest and Lungs. The Cough which is so distressing is simply the result of a desire to expectorate. If an obstinate foul matter exists in the air passages it will continue to irritate the membrane and prove a cough. Coughing is an attempt to throw out this matter and expectoration gives great relief. Inability to expectorate in the latter stages of Consumption is the cause of death.

The Hungarian Balsam is a great Expectorant—It dissolves the morbid and diseased matter in the air passages, chances it from a tick, glutinous substance, to a thin harmless fluid and throws it off with the greatest possible ease and comfort to the patient. There is no better medicine in the world, if its expectorant qualities alone be considered.

SPASMODIC ASTHMA Simple or Spasmodic Asthma has no better remedy than the Hungarian Balsam. This painful and destructive affection which resists almost every thing else, yields to the all powerful influence of this great remedy as readily as any other form of Pectoral disease.

CONSUMPTION Consumption has been graphically described as a Stranger of one's self. The Hungarian Balsam by its cleansing, warming, softening and animating power, produces, not shrinking but expansion.

Before its delightful influence, all chills, fever, night sweats, costiveness, blackness of the nails, a hot flushed skin, an uncertain strength, emaciation and decline—disappear, like the poisonous dews of night before the glorious morning sun. This is no delusion, but demonstrable fact, attested by incontestible proof from all parts of the country.

BEWARE TO DAY Delay in any case of Consumptive tendency is emphatically Death under all ordinary treatment. The Hungarian Balsam is a great ANTIDOTE, as well as CURATIVE. If you have any symptoms above described be advised in time.

Sold in large bottles at only one dollar per bottle.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.

FOR THE REMOVAL AND PERMANENT CURE OF ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, OR HABIT OF THE SYSTEM

THE operation of this preparation is three fold. It acts as a tonic strengthening the digestive organs and restoring the appetite, it is a mild and gentle aperient, yet powerful enough to purify the fluids of the body and invigorating to the nervous principle of the same. The many well authenticated cures of Scrofula of the most malignant character, wrought by Sands's Sarsaparilla, have given it a wide and deserved celebrity. But it is not from a consideration of this class of diseases to which it lays claim that its proprietor has found his reliance. It is upon its efficacy in purifying the blood, and thus curing the numerous diseases which are the result of impure blood, that its proprietor rests the claim of its superiority over all other preparations of the same class. Its effects are not temporary, but permanent, and the cures it has performed have been of the most decisive character.
